GROCERY MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION MEMBERS THAT HAVE CONTRIBUTED AGAINST I-522*

*The Grocery Manufacturers Association (GMA),

the trade lobby group for corporate food processors, is funneling money from its members to fight GMO labeling in Washington State.

After public interest groups, including Cornucopia, informed consumers about the natural/organic brands owned by corporations that contributed money against the Proposition 37 GMO food labeling initiative in California last year, corporations faced outrage from their customers.

To avoid similar consumer backlash in their persistent fight against GMO labeling, companies attempted to hide behind the GMA by using it as a front for their campaign donations. This now appears to be a violation of Washington law. After the Washington attorney general filed a lawsuit against the GMA, the organization voluntarily disclosed which of its members have specifically contributed to the anti-labeling campaign.

The GMO Divide — Let's All Reward the True Organic Heroes.

Over 60 countries around the world require GMO labeling or ban GMOs outright. But not the U.S.

Democratic and Republican administrations, and Congress, have repeatedly ignored the overwhelming majority of Americans who favor labeling GMO foods in the marketplace. Our politicians seem to be listening to the corporate executives (their donors) instead of the citizenry. In Washington State, the people have a right to craft laws of their choosing at the ballot box. I-522, to be voted on this fall, would mandate labeling of foods containing GMO ingredients. After narrowly losing a similar fight in California (Proposition 37) last year, when corporate agribusiness spent $46 million on misleading advertisements, consumers can vote in the marketplace and stand with the brands that are defending or opposing "the right to know."
