Subject: Cornucopia complaint emails

Hi –

Here are the emails between Cornucopia and Matthew. I've prepared a summary of the emails and attachments:

The complainant sent electronic copies of the complaint letters and some additional files by email to Matthew Michael. Copies of these emails were added to the complaint files on the shared drive. The text of the emails discussed the business of complaint submission or discussed the same issues as raised in the complaint letters. The additional files included 23 screen captures of satellite images from Google Earth, 4 satellite images from TerraServer, 1 topographical map from TerraServer, and 2 ground-level photographs. Most of the images from Google Earth and TerraServer showed agricultural facilities from altitudes of approximately 1,800 to 10,000 feet; the presence or absence of the animals in question could not be determined from these images. Two of the images were photos of chickens in a yard outside an unidentified poultry facility; the accompanying email text from the complainant stated that these images demonstrated the lack of outdoor access in the complained poultry facilities.

Attached file with re-count of photos, not just going by the file name this time. Also did not count duplicates (jpg versions or the replacement for the corrupted photo in Smart Chicken set). I hope this will be a more accurate count of unique images provided in the complaint.

Dear Karin:

It was a pleasure speaking with you this morning. Per your request, I have attached the suspension notices for each scope of certification for Redland Dairy. I also plan to forward copies of the total acreage amounts and pasture access calendars for Boehning Dairy LLC, Hilltop Dairy LLC, and Natural Prairie Dairy Farms LLC once I receive their 2015 annual update documentation. Please let me know if you have any further questions.

Sincerely yours,
