More than 60 countries around the world require GMO labeling or ban GMOs outright—but not the United States. Democratic and Republican administrations, and Congress, have repeatedly ignored the overwhelming majority of Americans who favor labeling GMO foods in the marketplace. Our politicians seem to be listening to the corporate executives (their donors) instead of the citizenry.

In 2012 and 2013, corporate interests vastly outspent their opponents using a combined $64 million to narrowly defeat GMO-labeling efforts in Washington state eir opponents using a combined $64 million to narrowly defeat GMO-labeling efforts in Washington state and Congress, have repeatedly ignored the overwhelming majority of Americans who favor labeling GMO foods in the marketplace. Our politicians seem to be listening to the corporate executives (their donors) instead of the citizenry.

In 2012 and 2013, corporate interests vastly outspent their opponents using a combined $64 million to narrowly defeat GMO-labeling efforts in Washington state.